

Declarative Declarative sentences state facts. 	Interrogative Interrogative sentences ask questions such as who, when, where, what.
Exclamatory Exclamatory sentences show emotion like anger, fear and happiness. 	Imperative Imperative sentences give orders - they tell you what to do.

Trees grow new leaves in the spring.

We shall be catching the bus at 3.00.

Frogs lay eggs called frogspawn.

I will make you a sandwich.

There are 12 months in a year.

In the winter we very often have snow.

Very young babies only drink milk.

Where did you leave your bag?

Why do the leaves change colour in autumn?

What is the name of your friend?

What time does the show start?

How do you make pancakes?

Where is the nearest bus stop?

Who is your best friend?

I'm terrified of spiders!

That movie was really funny!

Oh, I'm really sleepy!

My noisy neighbour is getting on my nerves!

Help, the dog is running after me!

That song can make you cry!

I did laugh at that joke!

Please share the sweets with everyone.

Turn off the radio in five minutes.

Put your toys away now.

You can come and visit me tomorrow.

Put the car in the garage.

